Peace Bid Seen In Laird Cutback

Defense Secretary Says Publicly Reductions in Sorties Only for Economy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomats speculated today that a projected cut in B52 flights against targets in South Vietnam and Laos might be presented by the United States in the Paris peace talks as a de-escalation of the war.

Nixon administration officials say privately, as Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird emphasized publicly Tuesday, that the reason for the planned reduction is not diplomatic but financial. Laird said his department had to cut military costs.

The rate of sorties for the B52's has been running at 1,800 a month. Under the budget proposed for fiscal year 1970 which begins next July 1, the rate would be cut back to 1,600 a month. This could mean simply that fewer planes would be involved in any particular raid. It would not necessarily mean fewer targets would be hit.

End of Bombing
Nevertheless, persons familiar with the Paris peace talks said the significant diplomatic aspects of the reduction is that it continues the de-escalation which began a year ago when President Johnson limited the bombing of North Vietnam. This was followed by a lull in offensive operations on the enemy side last summer and fall and by some North Vietnamese troop removals from the South. This finally produced the end of bombing of the North Nov. 1.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, had recommended that the B52 operations be continued at a high level and Laird had said two weeks ago he thought money should be provided for that purpose through June 1970. As recently as March 19 Laird quoted Abrams as saying he considered the B52 to be one of his "most important weapons."

Administration officials insist that the switch in Laird's stand was due entirely to a need to cut costs does not rule out the possibility the cut may be used at some point for negotiating purposes in Paris.

Part of Draft Act Called Not Constitutional

Boston Judge Says Objector Provision Is Discriminatory

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge ruled Tuesday that the Selective Service Act is unconstitutional as applied to nonreligious conscientious objectors.

U.S. District Court Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr., said that "a sincere conscientious objector... cannot constitutionally be subjected to military orders not reviewable in a U.S. constitutional court which may require him to kill in the Vietnam conflict."

The opinion came in the case of John H. Sisson Jr., 22, of Lincoln, Mass., who was convicted by a federal jury of violating the draft law by refusing induction. Sisson said he regarded the Vietnam war as "illegal and immoral."

Maximum Penalty
When Sisson appeared for sentencing, the judge granted a defense motion for an arrest in judgment, thus staying the sentence. He faces a maximum of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The Justice Department can appeal the decision. Meanwhile, Wyzanski said Sisson's case would remain "in limbo" pending a higher court decision.

"It is difficult to imagine any grounds for this statutory discrimination except religious discrimination," Wyzanski said in his rulings, and that he continued, is counter to the First Amendment.

The First Amendment states that "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishing of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Sisson had come before Wyzanski for sentencing, but instead Wyzanski stayed sentence pending a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court on the question raised.

Laird Seat Taken By Democrat Obey

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A youthful Democrat whose bid for the congressional seat held for 16 years by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird brought party leaders rallying to the campaign as the first round in a critical political year won the battle though Laird gave him a personal endorsement in the final congressional seat held for 16 years.

With 520 of 528 precincts reporting, the vote stood:

Obey 60,666
Chilsen 58,170

Chilsen, who had led at the beginning, dropped behind Obey during a surge of votes from central Democratic strongholds, but moved back into the lead and, with 78 precincts to be counted, still was getting 50.3 per cent of the vote. Then total of Marathon County, home area to both candidates, began to swing to Obey, and with only eight boxes uncounted the margin was decisive.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey made what he called his first major political appearance since losing the presidency to Richard M. Nixon. He appeared on the scene for Obey, and Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., made several film clips for use in the campaign.

Mediation to be Tried on Campus

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — One of the nation's best known labor mediators tries to find out today whether his techniques will work in college campus disputes.

Theodore W. Kheel of New York, a lawyer who has settled major strikes in the railroad, maritime and airline industries, scheduled a series of meetings with student groups, faculty members and the administration of Pennsylvania State University.

He said his only purpose was to find out whether he could bring them all together to talk over their grievances. "It's not my plan to get into any particular problem."

Kheel's invitation to try his hand at campus mediation came from Jacob J. Kaufman, an economics professor.

New Approach
Kaufman said he thought Penn State was ideal for experimenting with a new approach to the tensions that have swept American campuses.

Unrest at Penn State, which

The seven-hour sit-in at the university administration building in February ended when 250 students were served with court injunctions.

"The main problem on campus is that there is no real communication between the students and the administration," one university official said.

William F. "Rick" Collins, head of the Douglass Society, which claims to represent all of the university's several hundred Negro students, doubted that mediation would be useful.

"We're going to the meeting to give Mr. Kheel information," he said. "But we don't have anything to mediate. Our demands are uncompromisable."

Taps Sound as Eisenhower is Laid to Final Rest in Tiny Chapel in Abilene

By JOSEPH MOHBAT
Associated Press Writer

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — The body of Dwight David Eisenhower was laid to rest today at the end of the long trial that had carried him to the pinnacle of American military and political power.

The tomb of the 34th president of the United States was a vault — next to that of a long-dead son — beneath the floor of a tiny chapel near the Eisenhower Library in the quiet farm town of his youth.

Cannon boomed a 21-gun salute and riflemen loosed three volleys as the final rites for the general came to a close.

A bugler sounded Taps, the soldier's farewell.

Full Honors
As the honor guard handed the folded stars and stripes that had covered the five-star general's plain, GI coffin, to his widow, the strains of the West Point alma mater were heard by the hundreds massed in silence on the grounds of the Eisenhower Center.

Thus, with full military honors, the nation said goodbye to the man who had commanded a mighty Allied war machine to victory over Nazi Germany in World War II, then led the nation as president through eight years of peace.

The train bearing the body and the former president's family finally pulled into this town of 8,000 around dawn, after a long journey from Washington and a three-day state funeral.

A military honor guard watched over the coffin in its aged baggage car until the moment arrived for the beginning of the final tribute.

It was then transferred to a hearse for the 45-minute procession through the streets of Eisenhower's boyhood home town.

All Trapped Miners Thought to be Dead

By BENNET M. BOLTON
Associated Press Writer

BARROTERAN, Mexico (AP) — Rescue workers braved cave-ins, 100-degree heat and poison gas as they dug deep today in a soft-coal mine in which officials said between 151 and 155 Mexican miners were buried by an explosion two days ago.

Before dawn 23 bodies had been recovered. Mine officials said another 128 to 132 men were still trapped 450 feet underground. It was generally believed all were dead.

Seven experts of the U.S. Bureau of Mines in Washington are to reach this small mining town later today to advise Mexican authorities on faster removal of the dead and restoration of the shattered mine.

Produced Uncertainty
Juan Heitz, managing director of the Altos Hornos de Mexico S.A. mining concern that owns the diggings, said hours of checking assignment sheets still left the whereabouts of four men in doubt. This produced the uncertainty about the number of victims.

Heitz spoke of them all as "bodies" but emphasized "We are changing nothing in our efforts. We are not stopping for a minute, even though there is no life, until every man is out."

Five or 10 miles also were believed killed in the disaster, described by Gomez Sada, secretary of mining, as the worst in Mexico's mining history.

When methane gas exploded and set off a two-hour fire in the underground tunnels Monday afternoon, most of Barroteran's 2,000 population converged on the mine entrances. Troops had to hold them back.

By Tuesday grim resignation had set in.

"No one would be able to live through those explosions and gas," said Fortunato Salinas, one of the oldest miners here.

"This is the worst of them all." Asked what might have caused the blast, Heitz said: "It seems now that the equipment was functioning perfectly. That could mean human error, but this is only a supposition."

There are five interlaced mines at Barroteran, 75 miles south of the Texas border town of Eagle Pass. All are at the foot of Santa Rosa Mountain in the Sierra Madre range. The No. 2 and 3 mines, connected by 2,000-foot tunnels, were worst hit.

Bodies Searched
Officials said all the bodies recovered so far were badly scorched, bruised and broken, but it had not been determined whether the men died of suffocation or were crushed by cave-ins.

About 150 miners were working around the clock to clear the rock and rubble in the No. 2 and 3 mines. Every hour they were rotated in groups of 20.

Initially they had to work with oxygen masks, but by Tuesday night more than 40,000 cubic feet of fresh air was reported circulating in the tunnels. Many miners still entered the sloping No. 3 ramp holding half an onion under their nose, to overcome the nauseous effect of carbon monoxide fumes that follow any major mine blast.

Government Pays For Ike's Funeral

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is paying for the Eisenhower state funeral, Army officials say.

The cost of the funeral of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has not yet been worked out, they said.

The Army authority said the government will foot the bill for the three-day rites here, the train carrying Eisenhower's body to Abilene, Kan., and the burial ceremonies there.

Vocational School Control Only Referendum to Lose

By ARTHUR L. SRB
Associated Press Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Wisconsin voters gave an overwhelming stamp of approval to four out of five referendum proposals on the ballot Tuesday, including a massive $200 million outdoor recreation and anti-pollution program.

Rejected by a solid margin was a proposal that control of vocational-technical adult education schools be transferred from local districts to the state.

Like the vocational school issues, the recreation proposal was advisory only and further action is entirely up to the legislature.

Two constitutional amendments given final okay by voters eliminate the state's $100,000 debt limit and permit the legislature to authorize all counties to elect county executive officers.

Vote Standing
With 3,209 of 3,311 precincts reported, here is how the vote stood on the five issues: County executives, 314,648 "yes" to 306,633 "no"; state borrowing, 394,592-245,057; vocational schools, 279,855-392,109; anti-pollution bonds, 429,314-234,423; recreation bonds, 346,942-306,957.

The outdoor program was divided on the ballot into two issues—anti-pollution and recreation.

Approval of the $200 million Outdoor Recreation Act Program, known as ORAP-200, represented a major victory for Gov. Warren P. Knowles and other conservationists who had campaigned for its endorsement at the polls.

In a recent appearance before a legislative committee, Knowles said failure to enact the program might cost Wisconsin its "billion-dollar tourism economy."

By endorsing the proposal, voters gave the go-ahead for the legislature to enact bills providing for state aids to municipalities for construction of water pollution abatement facilities and for development of camping, hunting, fishing and other recreational areas.

In both cases, aids would be provided through bond issues—damaged elsewhere in the country.

The outbursts came during celebrations of the Czechoslovak ice hockey team's victory over the Soviet Union in Stockholm, Sweden.

In a resolution, the party's ruling presidium said "the organizers of the lawless acts will be punished."

It did not say who the organizers were but blamed Czechoslovak mass media for "creating an atmosphere of artificially evoked emotions." It added that "anti-Socialist forces" were responsible for the situation.

This Will End
Despite the Soviet-led military intervention last August, designed to halt the reform course of the Prague leadership, the country's news media have up to now remained relatively free of censorship.

The language of the resolution seemed to suggest that this would now end.

The presidium added it also would tolerate no longer any deviation from the party line.

"It was a mistake that those Communists who acted at variance with the party line were not called to account." It added and singled out popular reform Communist leader Josef Smrkovsky for criticism.

Official Soviet newspapers had charged that Smrkovsky took part in the victory celebration in Prague. This was denied in Prague.

In the field of publications, the presidium ordered the suspension of the magazine Zitrek—Tomorrow—and said other outspoken journals, such as Lis-ty and Reporter are deviating gravely from the party line.

These and other journals will be allowed to function only "on condition that there will be guarantees that their activity will be in complete agreement with the Socialist aims of our society."

Communist journalists "who are expressing themselves contrary to party policy" will be called to give an account of themselves, the presidium said.

The Communist party's official organ, Rude Pravo, is fulfilling its role "in an unsatisfactory manner," the presidium went on.

"It does not by far always advocate unambiguous, Communist principled political attitudes. It insufficiently supports party resolutions and does not combat views alien to socialism."

In other races, Ald. Robert Vondracek outpolled challenger Richard Verhoeven, 426-314, for the 1st Ward seat, and Ald. Richard Gerrits topped Edward Oliva, 501-212, in the 2nd Ward. With no opposition were Ald. George Simon (3rd), garnering 515 votes, and Ald. William Rogers (5th), 304 votes.

In the race for board of education, incumbents Victor Haen and Olin Dryer beat off the challenge of Mrs. Joan Vol. Haen received 2,119 votes. Dryer 1,912 and Mrs. Vol. 1,609.

In the first through fifth wards, respectively, Haen received 496 votes, 441, 387, 569 and 222; Dryer, 437, 449, 343, 476 and 207, and Mrs. Vol, 343, 350, 325, 410 and 181.

The total vote cast was 3,327.

Lowell Feathers was returned as 3rd Ward alderman and Paul Sturm was re-elected in the 4th Ward.

Edmund P. Arpin

Engeldinger, 35, 14,979 to 11,695, and villages in the county was Arpin carried all areas of 3,430 to 2,730.

Expected Edge

The new judge was conceded an edge in the Neenah-Menasha area but Engeldinger was expected to show strength in the rural areas of the county and Oshkosh where it was felt he was better known because of his past exposure to voters when he was district attorney. His terms in office also had been expected to give him an edge in Calumet County.

Bill Pending

The new judge is slated to take office next Jan. 1, although there is a bill in the state legislature to make the effective date of the court July 1.

3 Waupaca Aldermen Re-Elected

Duncan Campbell Narrowly Loses To Ex-Councilman

WAUPACA — Interest ran high in the aldermanic election Tuesday as three incumbents gained re-election and one veteran councilman fell to a narrow defeat by a former alderman.

With 1,508 votes cast, incumbents Edsijl Huntton, 1st Ward; Robert J. Bergman, 4th Ward; and Stanley E. Salter, 5th Ward, won re-election.

The upset came when Duncan R. Campbell Sr., who lost his 3rd Ward seat to Reuben T. Nelson. The new 3rd Ward alderman, a former councilman, was defeated last year by a write-in vote. Campbell, who has served six years on the council, received 102 votes and Nelson, 114.

The three-way race in the 2nd Ward ended with Waldemar G. Johnson, who has served on the Waupaca County Board, winning. Johnson had 105 votes while his opponents tallied a combined 107. James E. Stephens received 47 votes and Francis J. Vergaueun, 60.

Huntton received 182 votes and his rival Henry M. Leffin Jr., 137, in the 1st Ward.

In the 4th Ward Bergman received 231 votes and Raymond H. Mantefel, 67.

The 5th Ward race returned Salter to the council with 303 votes. His opponent, Parmo V. Hansen, received 160 votes.

Coin Flip Decides Fremont Town Race

One of 119 voters did not cast a ballot for the Town of Fremont chairmanship Tuesday, and as a result, the winner was decided by the toss of a coin.

Herbert Meydam won the toss. John Kohl and Meydam each ended up with 74 votes out of the 149 ballots cast.

Kohl, former east side supervisor, gave Meydam the choice of the flip. Meydam called heads. Charles Condon flipped a quarter. It was heads.

Meydam replaces William Kramer Sr. who did not seek re-election to the job he held for 37 years.

Marion Electors Approve Mill Pond Renewal Project

MARION — City electors overwhelmingly approved a Marion Pond renewal project and set the stage for a pilot program that could affect the mill ponds in many Wisconsin communities.

On a referendum question on whether they approved draining the pond for the next two summers and next winter, the voters gave the approval by a vote of 333-78.

In the election, the only aldermanic contest ended with Marilyn Bailey leading a three-man field with 113 votes in the 3rd Ward. Other hopefuls, Chester Kreger had 38 and Glen Polzin, 24. Were defeated. Incumbent Henry Bowers chose not to run.

By approving the referendum, the electors indicated to the city council that they are willing to bear the cost of remodeling the

Newcomer Wins At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Robert Kitzman received 111 votes to defeat incumbent Arthur Kaplingst, who polled 94 votes, for the 2nd Ward alderman post in the city's only contest.

Kitzman is a newcomer to politics. Re-elected without opposition were Ald Leon Steinback, 1st Ward, 390 votes; Clarence Pazel, 3rd Ward, 155 votes; Pazel, 2nd Ward, 58 votes; and James Born, 4th Ward, 250 votes; and Fred Hangartner, 5th Ward, 282 votes.

Town of Dupont

Town of Dupont incumbent officers crushed their opposition. The only newly-elected officer was Dancy Morrison, who put down his opponent for the constable's seat, Norman Pockat, by a 144 to 67 margin. Town Chairman Lester Bork Lee Kahler, incumbent clerk, 190 votes; Carlyle Piehl, treasurer, 183, and Julius Marquardt, assessor, 190.

Waupaca District Voters Crush School Bond Issue

Beats Anderson

Wiese Easy Victor For New Waupaca County Judgeship

WAUPACA — Nathan Wiese won an easy victory from Gerald K. Anderson for the new judgeship for Waupaca County Court, Branch 2.

Wiese, 52, of 47 Torrey St., Clintonville, received support from most area and gained 6,365 votes to Anderson's 4,086. The defeat was the second for Anderson in recent months as he was defeated in the primary for re-election to the state assembly.

Wiese issued a statement thanking all those voting for him and especially the people who worked on his behalf.

The victory could be termed an upset despite the wide margin as Wiese had not been involved in a county-wide election since 1949 when he was elected to one term as district attorney.

Anderson, on the other hand, has been active politically winning district attorney posts in 1954-60 and 1962-64. He also served two terms in the state legislature from 1964-68.

Wiese is experienced, however, with 27 years in law practice and six years as Clintonville Municipal Justice and six more as city attorney at Clintonville.

The position pays $17,500 annually with the state bearing all but $6,000 of the cost. Additional payments may be made by the county.

Rigorous campaigning by both candidates included door-to-door, early morning appearances at factories and appearances at service clubs.

Establishing the second court was no easy matter as it was fought bitterly from the outset by the county board of supervisors. As late as the February meeting the board went on

Show Stronger Opposition to $250,000 Swimming Pool; Towns Are Heavy Dissenters

WAUPACA — The $2.9 million school bond referendum, presented to the school district's electorate failed Tuesday for the second time.

The board of education asked that the proposal be presented again after it failed in the November election. Members claimed district residents were not aware of the need for a new high school as plans were not available in time to present the program throughout the district.

Voters from the City of Waupaca and the neighboring towns defeated the proposed new high school bonding, 1,530 to 892, and the proposed $250,000 swimming pool for the building, 1,792 to 565.

The 638-vote margin that cut short proposed high school bonding was nearly four times as strong as the voter opposition to the school last December. The board of education lost its bid for the school then by a 160-vote margin.

Rural Opposition A stronger expression of taxpayer unwillingness to pay more was shown in the second part of the school referendum—bonding for $250,000 to build a swimming pool at the high school. It was defeated by a 1,197 vote margin.

In the City of Waupaca, the proposed high school was favored by 603 voters and rejected by 849.

There was a much stronger voice in the city favoring the proposed pool, but it fell far short with 415 votes favoring it and 980 votes against it.

Pre-election speculation indicated the outlying areas of the joint school district would defeat the school and pool bond issues. This proved to be true.

With all towns reporting, except the second precinct in the Town of Farmington and the Town of Lind, the rural vote was 289 for the new high school and 681 opposed.

The pool received about the same response. Of the 565 "yes" votes, 152 were from outside of the City of Waupaca, and of the 1,762 "no" votes, 782 were from outside the city.

Ward Votes

The 4th Ward in the city favored the new high school, voting 162-144. This ward includes most of the southwest part of the city. Fourth Ward voters turned down the swimming pool, however, by a vote of 181-108.

Tuesday's tabulation on the school referendum were: "Yes"—1st Ward 113, 2nd Ward 93, 3rd Ward 66, 4th Ward 162 and 5th Ward 169.

"No"—1st Ward 197, 2nd Ward 115, 3rd Ward 147, 4th Ward 144 and 5th Ward 242.

"Yes"—Towns of Belmont 11, Dayton 117, Farmington (1) 65, Lanark 14, Saxeville 2, Scandinavia 16, St. Lawrence 1, and Waupaca 63.

"No"—Towns of Belmont 22, Dayton 213, Farmington (1) 217, Lanark 49, Saxeville 2, Scandinavia 23, St. Lawrence 10, and Waupaca 145.

"No"—Voting on the swimming pool was: "Yes"—1st Ward 75, 2nd Ward 68, 3rd Ward 44, 4th Ward 108 and 5th Ward 120.

"No"—1st Ward 220, 2nd Ward 131, 3rd Ward 167, 4th Ward 108 and 5th Ward 120.

Town Votes

"Yes"—Towns of Belmont 8, Dayton 59, Farmington (1) 25, Lanark 7, Saxeville 1, Scandinavia 9, St. Lawrence 1 and Waupaca 42.

"No"—Towns of Belmont 21, Dayton 259, Farmington (1) 249, Lanark 53, Saxeville 3, Scandinavia 27, St. Lawrence 10 and Waupaca 160.

"Cost of the school and resultant higher taxes lost this referendum," Everett Anderson, a board of education member, commented after the vote.

"I cannot speak for the board, but personally, I think this defeat of the bond issue is a sad thing for our children. The people did not fully understand our plight," he added.

"Now we should look at the plans carefully and try again, centering our efforts on letting the people throughout the district know the critical condition of our school," he said.

"There is no way a school can be built for less," Mrs. Fay Ponstad, the board of education clerk, said. "The school is planned to provide the educational program we need. I'll stand pat on the proposal we presented for this referendum," she added.

Zwicker Request Denied by Court

MADISON — Robert Zwicker, Appleton, was denied a rehearing request by the Wisconsin Supreme Court Tuesday on his conviction of disorderly conduct during a Dow Chemical Co. demonstration in 1967.

Requests of Michael Oberderfer, Bethesda, Md., and Gregor Sirot of East Orange, N.J., also were denied. Their convictions were upheld in February. The court's denials were made without comment.

New London Problems

Action Areas Outlined By Advisory Committee

NEW LONDON — Three areas of importance to the city were recommended for city council action Monday by the citizen advisory committee.

Three recommendations relative to the fire department dilemma were made in addition to those on industrial development and recreation.

The committee unanimously agreed the chief engineer of the fire department should be retained: the southside of the Wolf River would be best for a new municipal building, and, a combination police and fire department was preferable.

In addition, the committee recommended the city explore employment of a full-time recreation director and look into acquisition of land for industrial development.

More than an hour was taken deliberating the fire station question Monday. Nearly two hours were taken at a previous meeting on the same matter.

Chief Present

Fire Chief Robert Besaw and Joe Timar, assistant, appeared before the committee to answer questions. They were questioned about facilities needed in a new station, the work necessary to fulfill state orders on repairing the existing facility, and matters pertaining to responding to fire calls and the chief engineer.

Besaw pointed out that only two trucks would be retained in the existing facility if it were remodeled. The department has four pieces of equipment, three of which are housed at the fire station and the other at the city street department garage. This would result from putting steel support posts in the center of the station.

The fire chief explained the state orders did not only apply to vacating the living quarters above the fire station, but included removing all equipment. A June 1 deadline faces the city.

Backward Step

If the position of chief engineer is eliminated, we'll be taking a step backward, Besaw said. He explained it takes 40 to 50 seconds from the time the telephone is picked up reporting a fire to the time the truck is on its way with the chief engineer. The same amount of

Voters Say No to School Bond Issue

Both City, Rural Electors Defeat Kaukauna District Referendum

KAUKAUNA — City voters rejected the proposed $1.5 million bond issue to build a north side elementary school, but it was the overwhelming disapproval by rural electors that insured its defeat.

The vote, for the most part, followed the pattern of the February election when an improper question caused the election to be invalidated.

The total district vote was 2,516 to 1,838.

The board of education has pleaded for the school, noting crowded conditions. The district is renting seven classrooms from churches and parochial schools in Kaukauna, and according to city officials, would be required to seek more rental space next fall if the bond issue was defeated.

Earlier Approval

The referendum was for authorizing the Kaukauna City Council to float the bond. Voters last November gave tentative approval to building a new school but no cost figure was available at that time.

When city returns were final and the bond issue was opposed 1,613 to 1,559, it was evident it would not pass. As expected, the township voters in the district and the Village of Sherwood showed strong opposition to the bonding.

In the city, only the 1st Ward endorsed the bonding, with a 419-293 vote.

Other votes were 2nd Ward,

Students to Get Short Vacation

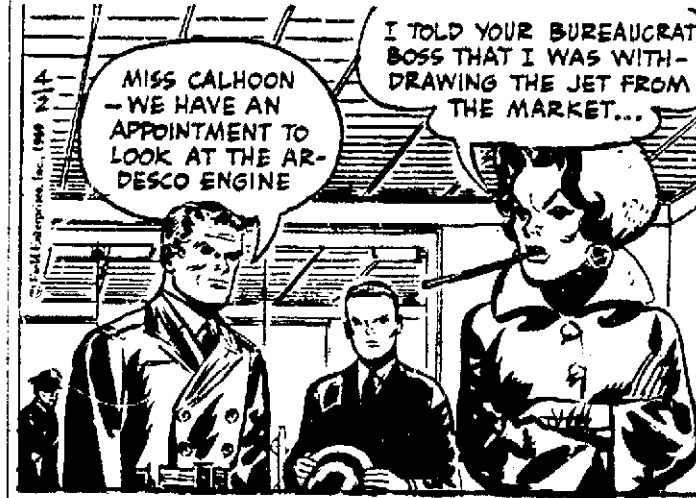

NEW LONDON — A shortened Easter vacation will begin for New London School District students at the close of school Thursday.

Public schools will reopen Wednesday in order to make up snow days missed in December and January.

Supt. H. James Ramsdell said the three school days next week would make up all snow days.
